STATE WILL MAKE TEST OF DEAF-MUTE CASE

CONTRACTS GIVEN
FOR 'REMODELING'
MASONIC BUILDING

Theatre to be Removed
'And Structure Used
By the Lodges

COST OF WORK
TO BE $25,650

Construction To Start
At Once Committee
States Friday

Contract awards in the aggregate of $25,650 were made last night
by Albany City Engineer M. S. Bingham
for the remodeling of the present Masonic quarters
the Masonic theater building located on Johnston street. Award for the remodeling of the building was made to J. B. McBride, heating and plumbing to H. Mullen and wiring to J. Q. Camp. Work is to start at once.

Bids were opened at three o'clock
Thursday afternoon at the Morgan county National bank with members of the building committee present.
The awards were made last night. J.
C. Draper, as chairman of the building committee, and F. A. Bloodworth secretary, have been assisted by A.
Hardage, T. A. Bowles, J. P. Mat-
cock, T. E. Speer and Dr. F. L. Chevalier in working out the details for the building.

When completed the building will be three full stories in height, modern in every respect with the first floor being used as a banquet hall seating approximately 400 people.
The second and third floors will be devoted to lodge activities. The theater portion of the building will be removed.

Removal of the old Masonic theater will witness the closing of an amusement house almost historic in these times. The Masonic theater, until the building of the Princess theater, was the feature house of the two cities. Even after the erection of the Princess playhouse the Crescent amusement company continued to stage dramatic productions in the Masonic building. It is understood that the Crescent company will agree to cancel the lease that they have for the use of the theater section of the building.

It is believed that the new Masonic home will be one of the more modern homes in this section of the state. Local Masons have been working earnestly for several years in the effort to improve the quarters of the order, but only recently were they able to push through the necessary legislation and get the full consent of the membership to go forward with the work.

WEATHER BALKS
SHRINE BANQUET

The Committee Confers
But Decides To Wait While

Weather conditions are blamed for the holdup in plans of the Shriners of this district in opening the campaign for $20,000 to go toward the building of an additional wing to their institution. The Shriners are planning to arouse interest in the coming campaign with a huge banquet
to which all Shriners in Northern Alabama will be asked to attend.

W. M. Royer, J. L. Draper and S.
H. Malone, committee on arrangement for the banquet have conferred and decided that the weather is too warm at the present time to ask the Shriners to meet. The banquet plan and date will be announced later.
It was the original idea to open the hospital fund drive near the first of September, but it is indicated that the drive will open at a later time in the coming month.

Rainbow Ends

Judith Smith, New York society girl, who was expected to be the bride of Philip Plant, heir to the Plant millions, has broken her engagement. It is said that Plant and Constance Bennett, screen flapper, have patched up their old differences.

MANY CONVICTIONS
IN LAWRENCE COURT

Jury Reports Guilty In Every Case During
First of Term

With seven cases docketed for trial
in the Lawrence circuit court next week, officials today are preparing for another big term of court in Moulton.

Solicitor D. C. Almon, on his return from Moulton yesterday, stated that the term, so far, had been the most successful term of court he has had in Lawrence county for many years.
There was not a single jury verdict
of not guilty, the following convictions having been reported during the present term:

Jimmie Rowe Letson, murder, life
in the pen.

Love Kimbol, manslaughter, three years in the pen.

Horace Brooks, forgery, two cases,
four years in the pen.

Ed Shackelford, grand larceny, two cases, four years in the pen.

Norris Rutherford, burglary, three to four years in the pen.

Mardis Rutherford, burglary, eight-
teen months to two years in the pen.

Howard Pitt, making liquor, one year in the pen.

Albert Shaw, making liquor, eight-
teen months to two years in the pen.

Frank Preuit, grand larceny, two to three years in the pen.

Tom Garth, attempting to make liquor, fine $50.

Anielas Benford, attempting to make liquor, fine $50.

Jim Douglas, attempting to make liquor, fine $50.

Allen Gibson, assault with a weapon, fine $100.

Ed Gilchrist, assault with a weapon, fine $50.

Dewey Royer, bastardy fine, $75. a year for 10 years.

least five more will succumb to burns.

Grandfather Mountain Is Denuded Of Its Timber Growth

(Associated Press)
BLOWING ROCK, N. C., August 21
—Sweeping its way through virgin timber on the lower half of the slope of Grandfather mountain, in the Blue Ridge ranges of North Carolina, a forest fire, said to be one of the greatest in the history of the state, had caused damage estimated at approximately $1,000,000 and early today was slowly burning itself out.

With the aid of a light rain, state foresters and mountaineers who volunteered to combat the flames had checked the conflagration on the eastern side of the mountain. Their efforts were partly successful when they prevented the fire leaping across the state highway between Blowing Rock and Linville.

The fire started yesterday morning at a burning sawmill and spread to the eastern side of the mountain.
Throughout the day and night the flames ate into the woods with rapidity, due to the high wind and the lack of rain over the area for many days.

Citizens of Blowing Rock described the spectacular blaze, which continued through the night, stating the lower half of the mountain apparently was enveloped in flames, while a lighted cloud hovered over the summit. The wind had died down this morning and a light rain had fallen, stopping the spread of the fire and allowing rangers to extinguish scattered flare-ups.

Grandfather mountain, proposed as the site for a national park, is practically denuded of its timber. Besides this there is the scenic loss, one of the greatest natural resources of this resort country.

Birmingham Girl And
An Atlanta Man Held
On U. S. Charges

(Associated Press)
ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 21—A gigantic flim-flam and confidence ring,
which has operated on pullman trains throughout the South, resulting in victims being fleeced of thousands of dollars, is believed to have been broken up with the arrest of Jack Lance and Mrs. Nautha Cole, pretty 19 year old girl of Birmingham, Ala.

Bert Donaldson, special investigator
of Solicitor General Boykin's office, captured Lance who has at least a dozen aliases, when he raided a hotel room yesterday. Two other members of the gang escaped but city, state and federal authorities are searching for them throughout the south.

Mrs. Cole called for Lance just after the raid. Donaldson invited her to come in and she accepted the invitation, later confessing Lance had sent her money to come to Atlanta.
This resulted in a federal charge of violating the Mann act being filed against Lance.

Lance and his gang had been operating what is known as the "mit game" on the pullmans, officers said.
They would engage a drawing room
on a train and then "frame" a passenger to win his money. One victim claimed he had lost $400. Donaldson found on Lance a list of all Pullman conductors operating out of Atlanta.
Lance's suitcase was plastered with labels of the leading hotels in the South and Cuba.

SURVEYS ORDERED

BY DECATUR BOARD

Wilson Ave. & Church
Street May Be Paved

WITH THE BRIDGE

Independent Paving Co.
President Speaks
Before Council

The Decatur city council last night
ordered preliminary surveys to be made looking to the possible paving
at an early date of several more blocks of Decatur streets, including Wilson avenue from Ferry street to Alabama and Church street from Ferry to Alabama, connecting with the bridge road on the latter thoroughfare.

The surveys will be started at once and will be completed soon, together with the estimates of the cost. The council, at an early meeting, will again take up the paving question and probably will fix a date for the hearing of any objections which may be offered to the improvement of these two thoroughfares.

Two months probably will be required to finish all of the preliminary plans and it is not known just when the work will get underway,
should the council ultimately decide to go through with the plan.

The council devoted much time last night to discussion of the street problems. Mr. Smith, president of the Independent Paving company, which organization has recently completed large paving contracts in Decatur, and now engaged in re-surfacing all of the old paved streets, addressed the council.

Mr. Smith explained the progress of the work and the character of materials used. He explained that all work done by the company was guaranteed
and expressed the belief that the paving and re-surfacing done now would give the city splendid streets for many years to come.

Blinking Lights
Seen By Officers

Members of the Decatur police department last night were attracted to the Calvin and Raven grocery store,
corner of Bank and Church streets
by a light blinking in the establishment. Thinking burglars might be at work, one officer remained on guard at the store while another went to Mr. Calvin's home and roused him.
Together the men returned to the store, but nothing was found missing.

Blinking lights also were noticed in the D. W. Irwin store, across the street. Investigation there developed nothing, and officers believe there must have been a "short" in the lighting, causing the lights to flicker.

Magic City Bus
Line Is Running

It was understood today that the Decatur-Birmingham bus line is reopening to run on regular schedule.
The motor transportation company will operate from Decatur with the Hotels Lyons as a base while the Albany headquarters location has not been announced.

The company opened transportation
some weeks ago, but suspended for a short while. Now it is the plan to continue on regular schedule, making stops between Albany-Decatur and Birmingham in approximately three hours.

City Engineer Is Now Preparing An Avenue Estimate

City forces were today at work
determining the approximate distance that will have to be covered if the city council should adopt a plan for repairing or paving of Second avenue. City Engineer M.
S. Bingham declared today that cost estimates would be given the city council at its regular meeting tonight. Estimates had not been fully prepared this afternoon.

It is thought likely that the city officials will go forward at once in an effort to make the avenue
one of the best streets of the city
rather than a detriment to traffic
as it remains at the present time.
Hope has been expressed by practically all the merchants on the thoroughfare that the city will see the need of improvement and rush the necessary legal phases
along, giving the people an improved condition as soon as possible.

BANKERS MEET
TO MAKE PLANS

Ideas To Be Given To
The Chamber For Celebration

A meeting will be held at the City
National Bank tonight at 7:30 o'clock with members of the committee appointed for the drawing of plans for the bridge celebration to be held September 17 when members of the state highway commission and other state notables as well as hundreds from over North Alabama will be extended invitations to visit Albany-Decatur and aid in the celebrating of the event.

W. E. Roper, F. A. Bloodworth, W.
W. Fussell and T. A. Bowles are the members of the committee gathering tonight. In the absence of Mr. Fussell who is on his annual vacation, it is likely that an additional appointment will be made, temporarily at least.

Tentative plans have been underway
for several weeks with interested bridge leaders in the fore, but no definite program has as yet been outlined. Albany-Decatur on the occasion will try to show the people over the valley and over the state just what a tremendous advantage the erection of the structure over the Tennessee will mean to this immediate locality and to prove to them that Alabama is at last opening a natural gateway, asking for the people of other states to come.

Huntsville Car
Lines To Continue

The Huntsville street railway will be continued and the hearing before the Alabama public service commission, originally scheduled to be held here, and later removed to Huntsville
has been postponed indefinitely.

An agreement has been made with the Alabama Power company, operators of the Huntsville traction system, that if the cars are continued,
the city will give strict protection
to the system in the matter of jitney bus competition.

Moderation Of
Weather Welcome

The moderation of the weather has been given a cordial welcome by Albany-Decatur people. Mrs. A. H.
Irons, government observer, announced today the temperature had dropped from 100 yesterday to 94 today, while a minimum of 72 was recorded last night.

The drop was accompanied by refreshing breezes and thundershowers
are predicted for sections of the state
tonight and Saturday.

RULING BY SUPREME COURT IS ASKED ON INTERPRETERS' USE

Is The State Required
To Provide Such Aid
For Disabled?

CASE CONTINUED
PENDING DECISION

Case With An Unusual
Legal Twist Cause
Of Deep Interest

The state will make a test case of the conviction of Frank Terry, deaf mute, and the subsequent reversal of the conviction by the court of appeals
on the grounds that Terry was not provided with an interpreter by the court during his trial. Announcement to this effect was made here today by Solicitor D. C. Almon of the eighth judicial circuit.

Solicitor Almon stated the case had been taken to the Alabama supreme court on a writ of certiorari. He described the case as without parallel in legal annals of Alabama.

Terry was convicted in the Lawrence County circuit court of having slain his cousin, Jim Terry, during a cuffle between the men. Terry was appealed by the defense to the court of appeals on the grounds the court did not furnish the defendant with an interpreter, so that he could hear the evidence in the case and the jury's decision.

In answering the appeal, the state
made the point that the presiding judge informed the defense counsel that if the defendant had an interpreter ready, the court would swear him, and that such an interpreter was furnished by the defense, sworn and aided in the trial. The defense's contention, however, was that such interpreter should have been furnished by the court.

The decision of the supreme court is expected to establish a precedent as to whether or not the court is required to provide interpreters for persons unable to hear or speak.

The killing occurred sometime ago
at a point south of Courtland in Lawrence County, and the unusual legal twists given the case is attracting much attention in this section.

Following the reversal by the court of appeals, the case was scheduled to be heard again at the current term of the Lawrence circuit court, but was continued, pending a decision by the supreme court.

Agreement Made
On Sewer Lines

The Decatur city council last night
agreed to the Albany request that permission be given the latter city to discharge its new Lee street storm sewer into the Decatur sewer beneath the Louisville and Nashville railroad tracks.

Mayor Nelson was instructed to negotiate an agreement with the City of Albany, providing the latter city will aid in maintenance of the sewer.
City Attorney Chenault, of Albany,
City Attorney Callahan, of Decatur, City Engineer M. S. Bingham and Mayor Nelson met this morning to complete the agreement, which will be signed and presented to the Albany
council at its meeting tonight.

MITCHELL RESTING WELL

M. J. Mitchell, traffic officer of the City of Albany, who was operated on Thursday afternoon at the Benevolent Hospital following an attack of appendicitis, is resting well today, according to his physicians. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were in Birmingham
when the attack occurred. The traffic official was on vacation.

PRUDENCE'S DAUGHTER

—By—
ETHEL HUESTON

take in the Middle West. Jerry did in college a few times for fun—all the girls do—and she told us she smoked a great deal in New York. But she doesn't here. We didn't tell her not to, mind you. Prudence says even daughters are free souls when they grow up. She's got a stunning little stand that some sculptor made for her in New York—a beauty—uses it for pins.

And then, when the gentleman of distinction that made Jerrold Harmer the man that Prudence could adore throughout her life, he said:

"That's Jerry's room across the hall. Go on over and have a look, while I tell Mary about dinner. It's very late."

"Do—do you mind?"
"Not a bit. It's worth seeing. We did it over to suit her—you know—a opposition to The House Beautiful. I'll be up in a minute." And he struck off downstairs whistling blithely.

Duane waited until a door closed behind him somewhere below, and then he crossed quickly to Jerry's room.

Involuntarily, he smiled. How could he have failed to recognize the incongruity of her gaudy black and orange surroundings in Jerry's alley? This room breathed of her, it sang of her—soft and warm, subtly fragrant with some elusive perfume. He knew instantly, in spite of the presence of the two maids, that Jerry was expected to do her own room. The wastebasket had not been emptied. And lying among the silken cushions of the day bed, lay a soft rumpled bit of lavender lace—a handkerchief idly tossed and carelessly left there.

He walked slowly up the three steps that led to the day bed, a pretty chrome-like dais, with hangings of royal blue velvet, and he stood beside the silk and velvet couch that served as a bed for Jerry at night, looking down at it somberly. He lifted the bit of linen and lace and touched it to his lips and smiled at his own folly, telling himself he was getting to be a sentimental fool.

There were but two photographs in the room, those of Prudence and Jerrold, handsomely framed in blue and gold. No countless snapshots, no schoolgirl chums, no penciled sketches, just the two pictured faces she loved the best. Among the amber and gold articles on her dressing table lay a strand of crystal beads lightly dropped.

There was only one picture upon the delicately tinted walls, and this surprised him, representing as it did the thought of one who had studied Art. It was a great green and white ocean, faint waves lashing themselves into foam and spray.

There were built-in book shelves all over the room, and hundreds of books—fairy tales, poetry, philosophy, love ories, wild adventures. He smiled at the breadth of interest displayed by the assortment and looking more closely he saw that it represented epochs—

—shelves having been added to accommodate the changing taste of in-crescent years. There was a book of poems in the window-seat, lying open, face down. He smiled again when he noticed among those on the shelves an occasional protruding bit of lace, or delicately colored linen. Obviously it was a favorite trick of Jerry's to mark her place in a book with the handkerchief she was using. Duane was boyishly pleased to have discovered this trait of hers, alone and unaltered, in her absence.

Turning about suddenly he lifted his eyes and started violently. He was directly opposite the rioting ocean of green and white and saw it clearly for the first time. He felt abashed as though it were Jerry herself, white, unashamed, who rode the waves before him. He looked away, curiously confused, embarrassed, and then went back to it. He stared at it, studied it, the slim white figure high and untrammelled on the highest wave.

In the confident assurance of the joyous eyes, he saw Jerry—Jerry as he had seen her first, as she stood with Almee Glorian in Carter Blake's studio—with the warm welcome of her youth in her eyes—Jerry, a thirst for adventure, for romance.

When he heard Jerrold whistling on the stairway again, he went out quickly and closed the door.

That same afternoon Jerrold took him out to see Jerry's house. Duane was fascinated with this phase of Jerry's life. He had never dreamed she could do a thing so clever, he marveled at it, rejoiced over her success as though he were in some way responsible for her skill. He asked a thousand questions about it, the management, the financing, the profits.

"That settles it for me," he said decidedly. "I'm going to turn in on Iowa real estate. I'll buy up old wrecks of houses for a song, turn them over to Jerry to glid them with her fairy wand, and we'll both sit back on the cushions with the coupons! Pretty good, isn't it?"

"Yes, very good. The only objection that I see is that you don't seem to be on any too pleasant terms with your prospective collaborator in the coupon business." Then Jerrold went on soberly, "It would be a shame for her to give it up—even for the sake of acquiring such a matrimonial prize as I am sure you would be. She is crazy about it—and she is doing something worth while, too. All over town they are talking about it—nobody dreamed she had such stuff in her. I didn't myself. Prudence says—but you know Prudence."

"She won't have to give it up," Duane said, with as much assurance as though he had a final voice in the disposition of Jerry's future. "I wouldn't have her give it up for anything. It's the cleverest thing I ever heard of—and a girl like Jerry—you just wouldn't believe it! For the most part, I must admit I think the Iowa barns are a little more esthetic looking than the Iowa residences—but of course it's a farm state—sweets to the wage earner, you might say."

"It isn't as if we couldn't afford a softening of the atmosphere, as Jerry calls it. There is money enough here for anything. The state is rich, almost too rich. But you know how we are, we Middle Westerners. We had such a tussle with nature in the beginning that we have sort of forgotten how to make ourselves comfortable. These retired farmers have money to burn. They can pay for anything they want, but they don't realize what they want until some one—like Jerry—shoves it right onto them."

"Then all I have to do now is to get clubby with Jerry," Duane said. "I see our future. I buy up factory sites and inveigle big business into using them—and Jerry dolls up their houses!"

Those days in Jerry's lovely home with Jerry's father, Duane felt were the happiest of his entire life. They had breakfast together in the morning, reading the papers over their coffee, drove to the factory together, and went out for luncheon to a cafe or club somewhere. And in the evening they played pinochle, smoked and read, sometimes just smoked and talked.

They went to the Princess to patronize the stock company which will go down in history as the start-in-life of Fay Bainter. Once Jerrold had some men in, and they played poker.

Sometimes Duane forgot that Jerrold was to be his father-in-law, thought of him only as a remarkably companionable old chap, and easy to have around.

"You know, Mr. Harmer," he said one night, "since I've been so keen on Jerry—and so mad at her stubbornness—I've sort of lost interest in—you know—women and things. That's not natural. Does it hang over—or do you get back when you've been married a while?"

"You act like a blase old roue," said Jerrold, "but you talk like a kid." And then he said with a great assumption of sternness, "See here, young fellow, I'm on Jerry's side. Don't you try to get anything out of me that you may be able to use against me later on. You stick to the straight and narrow." He laughed a little. "I won't say that in all my twenty years I haven't felt the fleeting intrigue of a foreign dimple or curl, or maybe an ankle—and there's no denying that a woman does get on your nerves, especially the way she lugs your tobacco out of your reach—but I'm strong for Prudence. But of course, there aren't many Prudences. You wouldn't expect that."

One night he asked about that picture in Jerry's room, the Ocean Rider. "It's a haunting thing," he said. "It makes you think of Jerry somehow—"

"Oh, didn't you know Theresa? The picture gave me the creeps, too, at first. The eyes are Jerry's. She has nice eyes; maybe you've noticed it," he added slyly. "Not as nice now, I think, as when she left. She looks more cloudy. But very nice. The picture is a shock at first sight. Makes you feel as if you've caught her stepping out of the bath."

He told Duane then of Theresa and her tragic death, her even more tragic life. Duane was shocked, hurt. It seemed a terrible thing for Jerry to go through, and lacking the support of his tenderness and sympathy. He bated himself, as though he had failed her when she had need of him.

Once he said, "Why do you suppose she wouldn't flirt with me—when she did with others? And I know she liked me well enough."

Jerrold said, "I don't know, what do you think?" And did not realize he had caught that cleverness of evasion from his wife.

"Did she tell you I was drunk that night?" Duane persisted morbidly.

"Jerry never tells us things until she needs us," said Jerrold proudly. "She struggles along by herself, until she knows she is whipped. Then she comes to Prudence and me. She was like that when she was a baby. She would work for half a day trying to fix a broken toy by herself—a thing I could do in a minute—but she never came until she had worn herself out working at it alone and found it too much for her. Prudence likes that; she thinks it shows character."

After a blissful week that was full of reminiscences of Prudence and Jerry

PROHIBITION STAFF ANNOUNCED TODAY

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Prohibition's new staff of 24 federal administrators, who will be given complete authority in as many districts over enforcement of the law September 1, was named today at the treasury.

O. J. Jackson was named for district number ten with headquarters at New Orleans. Those designated as acting administrators are expected to fill new positions only temporarily.

The position of Mobile agents was abolished with appointment of E. C. Yellowley, who has held that post, to head the 21st administrative district at San Francisco.

In a statement announcing the appointment, Assistant Secretary Andrews said the prohibition forces will be concentrated upon the task of eliminating the bootlegging industry. Their energies, he said, will be directed along three definite lines of attack: smuggling, illegal manufacture and illegal diversion.

WASHINGTON, August 21.—The new prohibition army will be captained by the same men who now command Uncle Sam's enforcement squadrons.

Out of the 24 new district administrators named by Assistant Secretary Andrews, of the treasury, all but six already are in the service.

Although he had announced a campaign to induce practical business executives to lend new blood to the organization, Mr. Andrews said today that after investigation there were many now in the enforcement machine who should be given a chance to make good under the new plan that is to become operative September 1.

Announcing his selections, the prohibition chief said his new force would make war on bootleg wholesalers and would make the question of local enforcement a secondary consideration. In addition to the 24 district administrators, he named Walton A. Green, former publisher of the Boston Journal, as chief prohibition investigator. His functions will be to develop international and inter-district conspiracy cases and to furnish each district with under-cover men to work up these particular cases.

Many Apparently "Old Women" Are Young In Years

Suffering and Pain Makes Them Look Old Before Their Time. Mysterious Malady Is the Cause.

It is positively distressing to see the number of young women today who, at thirty, go about looking like they are at least forty. All the pain and suffering which they endure is reflected in their looks and you can easily tell when a woman or girl has failed to safeguard her health.

The discoverers of St. Joseph's G. F. P. believed that if they could find the dreaded malady which is preying on women, and provide a relief for it they would be able to end most of the pains in back and sides, the headaches, nausea, loss of appetite, and that awful feeling of depression; conditions which have made many women virtually slaves to suffering for so many years.

How well they succeeded by their years of patient effort is best told by the praises of the thousands of happy women whose enthusiasm over the wonderful changes that St. Joseph's G. F. P. has brought about in their condition knows no bounds.

Through the use of G. F. P. many thin, frail and nervous women are made strong, steady and happy again; young girls who formerly suffered from irregularity, pain sickness and embarrassment are made regular and relieved of pain; women are enabled to realize the wonderful blessings of motherhood with surprising ease; and women in later years pass through the change of life with so little difficulty as to scarcely realize that they have been through this remarkable transformation. When women realize that this great change in their former condition is brought about by this phenomenal medicine, nothing can keep them from praising the wonderful St. Joseph's G. F. P.

Worry and depression over her failure to regain her health will "age" any woman prematurely. When the generative organs are freed from the catarrhal inflammation, which keeps them weak, nervous and irritable, women quickly become miracles of restored vitality, with that cheerful and buoyant appearance of youth.

Women Now Depend on

JAPANESE TO STUDY U. S. POLITICS

TOKYO—Leaders of the three major political parties in Japan the Kenmeikai, Seiyukai and Seiyuhon, have decided to send to the United States six parliamentarians for the purpose of studying American political practices. The delegation will attend the international convention to be held in Washington in October and will subsequently visit other cities. It is hoped the parliamentarians will bring back to Japan a number of new ideas which can be applied to the modern political situation in the empire.

LOCAL BOYS RETURN

Word was received today from Dick Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wright, that he is on his way home after having spent the past two weeks at various Florida points. Young Wright was accompanied by friends and toured the Sunshine state during the trip. The letter stated that Florida is a good state but he favors Alabama and will be happy to return.

12 Years Ago From The Daily August 21, 1913

Three homes were entered last night. The homes of Clyde Pointer in Decatur, W. T. Taylor on Fourth avenue and Walter Robertson on the same street were entered.

Judge Wert and Sheriff McCulloch were commended for their work by the Southside Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Professor Herbert A. Pettus has been elected as principal of the New Decatur High school.

Mr. and Mrs. Breeding and family of Fifth avenue, south, have moved to their pretty new home on Gordon Drive.

Miss Grace Poindexter of Fayetteville, Tenn., is the guest of Mrs. A. H. Giles on Oak street.

If a man walked up to you and told you that Albany Decatur was a poor place to invest, an undesirable place to live, you would undoubtedly list the occurrence as an event leading up to a tragedy. Do you realize that when you fail to place your heart and soul, brain and pocket book, on your faith in this locality that you are applying the same doctrine?

GERMANS MUST CHANGE FRONT IF THEY ADOPT THE AMERICAN GOVERNMENT FORM

News dispatches tell of the plan put forth in Germany looking toward the adoption of the American form of government, they are tired of their own type of republic, they have long since abolished the regime of royalty, and now they are ready to try out something else, forgetting that it is a theory that they are handling and that it may prove a failure in the Fatherland.

It is a theory in this sense. It is not practical to give freedom to those who have never enjoyed freedom, that is it is not practical to give it to them all at once. Place a German citizen in the shoes of an American citizen, so far as the rights of man are concerned, soon there will be hundreds of candidates for office, there will be the desire to get into office and gull the public just as they have been gulled for hundreds of years under the regime of a potentate. They will have their freedom and it will prove a detriment, a weapon for they will use it against themselves.

The first move will have to be the removal of Hindenburg as the governmental head. Hindenburg has never been in accord with a democratic policy. He has always been under the thumb of royalty, it is bred in him just as his military training has raised him to the top. There must first be the democratic type placed in office, a wise head who will look after the welfare of his people and not entirely after the condition of the exchequer at the expense of the people.

Take for instance the condition of America at the close of the Civil War. Thousands of people of another race with their freedom and not the slightest idea of how to put it in use, they used it as a club rather than as a persuader. Even had it been administered in other form than force the southern people would not have bowed to it.

A non-member of the royal house or of the nobility in Germany will feel the same way in the matter. They will not bow to the will of the commoner, they have never been taught other than to rule and they figure that it is too late to learn. They have been disciplined to lead, trained to give orders and not to take them. Then what would they do if the American form of government should be adopted and shoved down their throats all at once. They could not hope to be in the majority, they would remain in the minority, they would fight such a leadership just as the Southerner fought and resented the yoke that followed after the war between the states.

Germany will be decidedly better off with the present form of government than for a complete change. Big doses are often easily taken in little drops. The German people will have to be moulded together first and then the transformation, it cannot be otherwise. Soviet Russia and Fascist Italy are types of rapid transformation in types of government and the road has been hard to travel. Neither of the nations is looked upon as a world power, neither is regarded as wholesome and welcome in the family of nations. They are always in a turmoil and it is but the result of too rapid a change in governmental policy. Germany had best continue the policy that she now is trying out. The people will be slow in becoming accustomed, but the method is much more safe and sure.

PUBLICATION OF A DAILY PAPER REPRESENTS IMMENSE OUTLAYS

Frank B. Shutts, publisher of the Miami (Florida) Herald recently addressed a group of club women in Washington on a subject which they admitted more or less ignorance, to wit, the cost in labor and money of the publication of a daily newspaper. Mr. Shutts' address was exceptionally timely.

People have many misconceptions of the newspaper business. It would seem that inasmuch as so many people are readers of newspapers and patrons of them, that the public would be more familiar with the newspaper, as a business enterprise. Well informed business men, who have some knowledge of scores of different businesses, how they are conducted, the amount of capital needed, the expected return, etc., confess that they know almost nothing about the newspaper "game."

Mr. Shutts says: "The reader makes the mistake often of looking upon the paper purchased for a few pennies as a purely local product. In the smaller cities he is, perhaps, acquainted with the editor, and may know the members of his small reporting staff. He does not know the unseen army of workers back of every daily."

"He does not realize that his daily paper is only the local output of a vast, world-wide news-gathering organization—the local manifestation of a composite, comprehensive system. The daily newspaper with its established press services has a staff of thousands of expert news reporters, giving prompt and effective representation in every city and hamlet, every state capital and every world capital."

"An army of forty thousand men and women, working throughout the twenty-four hours, cover every activity in the United States, from the smallest items of little local interest to events of national and international importance."

"Through an elaborate system of selection and rejection the news of greatest interest is brought daily to the reader's door. Much of the local reporter's copy is rejected by his city editor. From that which is published the press services choose that of wider interest and it is telegraphed the daily newspapers, where it again goes through a process of selection, the local editor reprinting only that small portion which he believes will interest his readers."

"Not only do highly trained writers supply the world news to the local paper, but a photographic staff of thousands make pictures of events of interest everywhere. Experts in all subjects of human knowledge, men of national note, prepare highly authoritative articles. Artists, who draw fabulous salaries as well as pictures, supply entertainment."

"The newspaper reader needs to know that what he purchases for a few pennies is a great bargain made possible to him only through associated service. Were it not for the many established press services, the local publisher could not supply the same world news coverage if he charged a dollar a copy for his daily newspaper. No, not even at five dollars a copy!"

IS PROHIBITION A FAILURE? CAPPER ANSWERS IN THE NEGATIVE

Wherever the propaganda has come from, relative to the failure of the National Prohibition statutes, it has certainly come from an unauthentic source and from people who do not wish to state just what the prohibition laws have done for America, they wish to convey the secret meaning that the majority of the American population is tired of the Volstead rule and are making all efforts to break it.

This is a distinct untruth. America today is the best America that has ever been known. We have the most prosperous nation, the richest nation and one of the greatest religious nations on the face of the globe. That is what prohibition has done for America. It will do the same in moral uplift and righteous endeavor for any country on the face of the globe when it becomes known that the prohibition statutes have been placed to stay.

Senator Arthur Capper, the gentleman from Kansas has this to say of the effect of prohibition enforcement in America. Mr. Capper is writing in the Manufacturers Record at the request of the publishers:

"Editor Manufacturers Record: 'You ask whether or not my views in favor of Prohibition and the enforcement of the law are strong as ever. My answer is most emphatically yes. In spite of the fact that the prohibitory law is violated and in spite of the wall of 'wet' sympathizers for a modification of the Eighteenth Amendment on the grounds that it deprives the people of 'personal liberty,' I believe sentiment for Prohibition is vastly stronger today than it was when Prohibition was written into the basic law of the nation in response to an overwhelming demand from the people. The yell that arises from the bootleggers and those who support them, to my mind, evidence enough that the law is being enforced. If it were as easy to evade the law as those who disapprove of it claim to believe, if conditions were 'satisfactory' to them—there would be no demand for its repeal or modification."

"That the law is violated, not even its most ardent defenders will deny. But no one who wants to be fair will claim that substantial progress in the enforcement of the law is not being made. In 1923, 49,021 alleged violators of the prohibitory laws were brought to trial, 34,067 of these trials brought convictions. Fines collected were $4,336,021. These figures prove that the forces of law and decency are making a determined stand against the bootleg rebels. I do not happen to have at hand the figures for 1924, but I am sure they are equally as formidable as those of the previous year."

"President Coolidge should have the highest commendation of the people of the nation for the effort his Administration is putting forth in the enforcement of the prohibitory law. It is to be hoped that the reorganization of the Prohibition unit now in progress will make the enforcement of the law still more effective."

"The wets, who claim to favor 'modification' but who really want the law wiped out in order that the saloon may return, bolster a bad cause with a worse argument. They base their appeal for a modification of the Prohibition law upon the ground that Prohibition is responsible for crime and violence. Blaming Prohibition for crime and violence is as if a murderer should point to his victim and say: 'Look at the result of your law! If there were no such law there would not be murder.'"

"Federal Prohibition has decreased the use of liquor in this country between 85 and 90 per cent. These are dependable department records. Prohibition has saved annually $2,000,000,000 to the people of the country. This $2,000,000,000 has been invested in homes, in education, in more and other substantial benefits of life, and has not gone to swell the profits of booze barons and distillers. Hence the drive for 'modification.'"

"From every standpoint—moral, educational, economic, spiritual—Prohibition is proving beneficial, and the thinking people of the nation will not countenance either the repeal or modification of the law."

ARTHUR CAPPER.
Verily, Prohibition has justified itself, stated the Record. The same may be applied to this section of Alabama. Never before have we seen the growth, the expansion, the prosperity that we see evidenced today in the building of splendid cities and good citizens. Prohibition has played a vast role in this section as well as other sections of the nation. Prohibition has truly justified itself from a financial and a moral standpoint.

START THE DAY RIGHT TO RETAIN VIGOR

Health Expert Finds That the Vile Air of a Pullman Wash-Room Does Not Help Either His Morning Appetite or Disposition.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

A day's work is well begun.
Is really more than half done.

I AM writing this on a Pullman car. It is the morning after my fourth successive night on the sleeper. Perhaps I am irritable and fussy, but really I am provoked.

In the wash-room of the sleeper are three wash-basins. Three persons can be removing the grime of travel, while two or three more can be hunting for clean linen and changing collar buttons.

It always makes me mad to have the space in the wash-room taken up by early risers who have been to the diner and have returned for a morning smoke. This morning, in addition to the bathers, five persons were crowding the seats of that little coop. There was a Jap, two cowboys, a lost soul with sadness in his eyes and a captain of some foreign army. Two were smoking ancient and, doubtless, honorable pipes; one blew clouds from a cigarette, and the last soul merely took up space.

A sleeping car isn't any too fresh in the morning. No way has yet been found to ventilate it. You don't sleep well, get up with a dark-brown taste in your mouth, and then have to crowd into a little room where ten other mortals are breathing the vile air and tobacco smoke of a vitiated and poisoned atmosphere.

I never complain about tobacco and have not shared the horror some medical writers feel about what it will do to human beings. Temperately used by adults, it probably soothes and comforts more than it harms. But I proclaim an unwillingness to have it forced into my protesting lungs while I am trying to clean up for the day!

That vile air ruined my appetite for breakfast. It damaged my temper, and it has spoiled the beginning, at least, of what might have been a good day. So, you see, this day's work is not well begun, and time only can tell what will happen by night.

In the morning every window in your dressing room should be wide open. You should take fifty deep breaths of pure air. After your bath, a good rubbing with a rough towel will leave you in a glow. Even in hot weather these preliminaries should be taken. You want your heart pumping vigorously and your skin flushed with good, red blood. I am sorry I am cross to-day, but, you see, I started wrong. The Pullman conductor is smiling and thoughtful. I like him and I think I will forgive the world!

MISS SMILEY COMPLIMENTED

Miss Dorothy Dabney entertained this morning with a beautifully appointed card party and luncheon at her home on Pine St., as a special compliment to her charming guest, Miss Mary Wallace Smiley of Decatur.

A variety of brightly colored garden flowers were artistically used to make the reception rooms most attractive and four tables of auction bridge players were present on this delightful occasion.

At the conclusion of the games a bottle of bath salts was given as high score prize and a compact for consolation trophy. Miss Dabney's gift to the honoree was a bottle of imported perfume.

A three course menu was served at the noon hour. The following young ladies were included in this hospitality: Misses Mary Wallace Smiley, Elizabeth Stockard, Sue Jolly McRae, Fannie Kreisman, Mildred and Gertrude Jackson, Helen and Mary Kate Ingram, Kathleen Brown, Mary Noel Bennett, Katherine and Adele Walker, McFarland, Alice Brown, Rose Warren Irvine and Louis Wheeler.—Florence Daily News.

Miss Sally Tomlinson, of Hartsville, and Misses Evelyn Sisley and Bernice McClure are attending a revival at Danville this week, the guests of Misses Fanny and Katherine Hardwick.

Mrs. J. D. McCutcheon, enroute from Birmingham to her home in Frankfort, Illinois, is the guest of Mrs. W. S. Stevens.

Mrs. Ernest Grubbs, of Spring Texas, is visiting Mrs. Andrew Smith on Fourth Ave., West.

Miss Eva Stover has returned from a visit to relatives in Oklahoma and Texas, and will leave today for Moulton to be the guest of her father, A. M. Stover.

Railroad Laborers Find Old Skeleton

(Associated Press)

HOQUIAM—Two prehistoric skeletons, more than 80 feet in length, recently were uncovered near here by workmen in a railroad cut. Rev. J. Herbert Geoghegan of this city, who examined the find, pronounced the bones those of dinosaurs, ichthyosaurs or pterodactyls.

The skeletons were imbedded in 40 to 60 feet of limestone deposit, and were partly petrified. The railroad excavation cut through the animal's ribs which could be seen extending for a distance of several feet in parallel lines.

No skull was found, but a long tear-looth discovered among the debris was taken as indicating that the animals were carnivorous. The ribs vary from three to 12 inches in thickness while a portion of shoulder blade is four feet long and five inches thick. Knee joints and other bones discovered vary in size from several feet to only a few inches in circumference.

"The character of the rock indicates that it was once sea or river bottom which through a fault has been overturned," said Rev. Mr. Geoghegan. "The layers of strata have been upended, leaving the animals lying in an unnatural position."

"The upheaval which placed the bones on the top of a high hill, probably took place at the time the Cascade range was formed."

"The animal has a vertebrae, and probably stood 40 feet high, counting the long expanse of neck found. The classification of the bones could be determined more exactly if we could locate the skull of one of the beasts."

"This entire country appears to have been tropical or subtropical in character, and the absence of rocks and gravel proves that the glacier which covered the northern part of the continent at one time, never touched this section."

"From the character of the soil either river or ocean bottom, I am inclined to believe the animals were ichthyosaurs, or maritime reptiles rather than the dinosaur, land reptile or pterodactyl, flying reptile."

GERMANS TRAIN PHYSICALLY

BERLIN—Only two percent of Germany's population apply themselves regularly to any form of sport according to Theodore Lewald, Under Secretary and President of the German committee for Physical Culture. Of the 5,000,000 members of sporting clubs he figures that only 20 percent may be called active, that is, go in for regular training.

POLICEMAN IS HELD IN FLOGGING CASE

Girl Prefers Charges In Connection With Whipping Episode

(Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 21.—W. R. Compton, policeman, was under bond of $300 today following his arrest in connection with the alleged flogging of Oscar Tomlin, a barber, Wednesday night. The arrest was made upon complaint of Miss Mary Bowden, who said she was riding with Tomlin at the time he was flogged. Compton is under suspension pending hearing on the charge.

Police announced a warrant charging William Chance, storekeeper at Sports, Ala., brother-in-law to Miss Bowden, with being a member of the flogging party, had been issued at the instance of Miss Bowden.

Preliminary trial of Compton, who denies the charges against him, was postponed until next Tuesday at request of defense attorneys. Compton says he can establish an alibi.

Miss Bowden said the flogging took place about eight miles from Montgomery on the Selma road when a carload of men, with handkerchief masks, nosed their car to the side of the road by cutting in ahead of them and took Tomlin from behind the wheel. Following the application of the lash, Miss Bowden stated, the men brought her part of the way to town, then leaving her to walk the remainder of the distance.

Martin Examines Players' Evidence

(Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 21.—John D. Martin, president of the Southern Association, returned to Memphis today from Little Rock and directed his attention to a close examination of a transcript of testimony given by the Nashville and New Orleans clubs during his investigation of rumors alleged irregularities in the relations between Nashville players and a man purporting to be an official of the New Orleans club.

Mr. Martin announced he would leave tonight for Chicago to question Fred Eichrodt, formerly of Nashville tomorrow morning in the presence of Commissioner K. M. Landis.

When You Have Indigestion

Take a Few Doses of Herb Juice; You Will Be Amazed How Quickly It Relieves You. It Keeps the Stomach and Bowels Right.

When you are suffering from the nerve-racking effects of indigestion, gas stomach and nervousness just take a few doses of Herb Juice and you'll be astonished at how quickly you get relief. Its continued use will restore you to a normal condition and you can once more enjoy good health. Nowadays many people are suffering with stomach trouble—hundreds are troubled with too much gas on the stomach which causes bloating and belching after eating and it is difficult for them to get anything that will agree with them. Herb Juice, the great Nature remedy, was formulated for the very purpose of relieving these ailments and when taken according to directions it almost invariably brings satisfactory results. It puts the stomach and bowels in order. It acts freely, yet very effectively, on the bowels, and also aids digestion; in fact, it helps the stomach to digest its food in the natural way as nature intended. You need not be bothered long with stomach trouble when the very remedy to overcome and stamp out his trouble is just as near you as your drug store. Your druggist will be glad to recommend this wonderful nature treatment to you, and it will cost you nothing if you are not benefited by the first bottle. Like the Indians of old, get back to nature to find the remedy to cure your ills. Herb Juice is recommended especially in treatment of the following ailments: Indigestion, constipation, inactive liver, stomach, bowels and kidney disorders. Every bottle sold under guarantee to benefit or money refunded.

Herb Juice, the great medicine, that is accomplishing such great results in the way of relieving sufferers is now being introduced in Albany by Caddell Drug Co., Adv.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: We are three high school girls who are coming to you for advice. We have been going with three young gentlemen who say they care a great deal for us. We have been told that these young men say they do not care for us when they are in other company.

They treat us very nicely when we are with them but we have come to you for advice as to how we can find out the truth of this.

THREE BROKEN HEARTS: As long as these young men are trustworthy friends and you enjoy their company, there is no reason why you should worry about idle gossip. If they were not interested in you they would not seek your company. As for ascertaining whether or not their affection for you is sincere, it is not your place to broach this subject, my dear. Content yourselves with loyal friendship and don't brood over love until you are more miserable, and able to cope with its problems.

PADLOCK PLACED ON MONTGOMERY FARM

Scene Of The Capture Of Liquor Hit By Injunction

(Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., August 21.—A padlock injunction on a 40-acre farm on the Carter Hill road, just outside the city, was issued yesterday by Federal Judge Henry D. Clayton on the charge of the recent seizure of 770 gallons of liquor on the land.

This injunction is thought to cover the largest acreage ever padlocked by such an injunction in the state of Alabama.

The United States Marshal and Walker K. McDary, chief of the law enforcement department, were furnished a key each and if Anthony Bozeman, negro tenant, wants to leave the farm he must climb the fence or get one of the officers to open the gate for him.

Judge Clayton ruled the padlock would be removed if Bozeman made $500 bond there would be no further violations of the law there. Bozeman has not met the bond yet.

Bozeman claims he uses the farm to board bird dogs.

Pure Flour Makes the Best Baking Better

What would you do without biscuits? And once you have eaten biscuits made with Valier's Dainty Flour, you will wonder how you were ever satisfied with anything else before.

There are reasons back of the extra goodness of baking done with Dainty. First—it's milled from only the rich, creamy centers of the choicest soft winter wheat. This wheat costs a premium. Secondly—Dainty is pure! No phosphate or other adulterants ever impair the rich, natural flavor given Dainty by this choicest wheat. Dainty costs a little more than ordinary flour. One trial will show you how much more it's really worth.

Chicken wire, telegram a chap gets from his girl.

Lots of women have to tie a string through their wedding rings to make them remember what it means.

No town is a good town to the man who is sorry for himself.

A new rule prohibits women from swearing in barber shops. It seems unfair. No one could blame them for swearing when they see what they look like with a neck shave.

Gladys says having a cracked lip is not always what is cracked up to be.

I'd like to get out with the girl who says it's the woman that always pays.

Our idea of a dumb bell is a man who thinks cotton gin is something to drink.

We have noticed that in most barber shops the "no tipping" signs are written in invisible ink.

We never dreamed that dresses could be as sleeveless as some of them are.

The telephone girl who can't cuss is either very inattentive or else she has a very poor memory.

Only a wise child sits and acts stupid as mother spells small town gossip to keep him from catching on.

What's the use of 'better homes' if people won't stay in them?

The most desirable second hand articles is a rich young widow.

OLD READING MATTER PUT TO GOOD USES BY CHURCH BODY

(Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—The Church Periodical Club, a unique co-operating agency of the Episcopal church has prepared an appeal to the General Convention of the church at New Orleans next October for books, magazines, pamphlets, even newspapers—old and new, and on every subject, to carry on the work which it voluntarily assumed 37 years ago.

This organization's task is to keep the mission workers of the church, especially in the out of the way places of the world, supplied with reading matter. A globe trotting lady, entering the hut of a missionary in one of these waste places some years ago, found him perched on a ladder, his head bent back, scanning the columns of an old newspaper which had been pasted over a stovepipe hole. It was the only thing he had to read. That was the inspiration for the founding of the Church Periodical Club.

In the intervening years its work has extended to every part of the world. It supplies not only Bibles, prayer books and hymnals but scientific works, fiction, magazines, newspapers, picture cards and calendars, games sheet music and photograph records, all free. It maintains a score of "traveling libraries" and is practically the sole support of half a dozen well-equipped permanent libraries in various parts of the world.

The children of the missionaries are not neglected, for to them are sent the latest children's books and games.

During the past year 31,761 current periodicals for 13,009 friends of the club were sent to the workers all over the world; 2,199 Bibles were distributed, 8,866 prayer books, 63,399 books of theological or secular character were supplied to institutions or individuals, and 421,188 old magazines and papers, 212,029 pictures and games and 9,254 pieces of music and records were put into the hands of workers all over the globe who otherwise would have had little, if any, of these diverting agencies of civilization to beguile their leisure hours.

Falkville News

Falkville High school opened on Monday 17th with about 400 in attendance in all the grades. Prospects for the year are good. Principal C. C. Edmondson, the principal and co-workers have everything in good running order and there is no reason why the year should not be a success.

Included in the faculty this year are: Miss Zana Lovin, Mr. Burdick, Miss Lueille Rnsell, Miss Smiley, Mrs. James Edmondson, Mrs. J. B. Elliot, Miss Rena Jenkins, Miss Amy Alexander, Miss Rena Rowe, and Mr. Ford who will have charge of vocational training.

Prof. W. T. Tiller of the Morgan County High school made a fine talk. Prof. E. L. Hayes county superintendent of education delivered a talk. The principal address was delivered by Professor Dowling, superintendent of education of Cullman County.

Students are still enrolling from different sections of the county.

It is understood that Reverend Edward Fulmer, Cullman Methodist pastor, was picked-up about his car between Vinemont and Cullman. It is believed that Reverend Fulmer had been overcome by the heat after working in the sun on his car. His condition is said to be serious.

Reverend S. M. Baldwin who has been conducting services at West Center Methodist church has returned to Midland, A. A., his home.

The health conditions in Falkville and the surrounding section is generally good at this time.

GULF COAST WILL HAVE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER BY NEXT JULY

(Associated Press)
GULFPORT, Miss., Aug. 21—Hydro-electric power service along the Mississippi Gulf Coast by next July 1st is seen here following an announcement by Barney E. Eaton, president of the Mississippi Power company.

Mr. Eaton's statement follows: "We have completed a survey for the high voltage power transmission line which we will construct from the Alabama State line along the Gulf coast to Gulfport, where it will be connected with our 12,000 horsepower steam plant. Lines of lower voltage from Gulfport to adjacent communities, and other lines will be constructed from time to time to supplement these and to serve territory now without the benefits of power service at the Alabama line. This line will connect with the hydro-power system in Alabama.

"We are beginning at the present time at Alabama State line to acquire right of way for this line. Construction materials will be ordered as soon as and as soon as the necessary right of way is purchased these materials will be placed on the ground and construction work will be undertaken and pushed vigorously to a conclusion.

"The people of the Gulf coast have

Missing Girl Is Found In Hospital

(Associated Press)
MOBILE, Ala., Aug. 20—A three-week search of Gulf coast cities for Ruby Holloway, 19-year old Gulfport, Miss., girl, ended today when she was found by Mobile police in a local infirmary. The girl entered the institution here under an assumed name following publication yesterday of a story that local police were unable to locate the girl, officials received a telephone call which led to the identification.

The girl has become a mother since entering the local institution. Police of Mobile, New Orleans and many other cities have conducted a search for the girl for three weeks at the request of her parents, following her mysterious disappearance from Gulfport.

Louis Mitchell, employed of the girl is under charges of kidnapping at Gulfport, preferred against him after the girl's disappearance.

shown a disposition to co-operate with us in securing the necessary right of way. We appreciate their friendliness very much and unless we are hampered by bad weather or delays in receiving materials, we will be able to inaugurate hydro-electric power service along the entire Gulf coast by July 1st next.

"I know of nothing, in my opinion will contribute more to the future growth and development of the Gulf coast than the coming of this power. "It means not only that the development of the Gulf coast as a great playground will be greatly facilitated, but also that we will have a measure of industrial development to give employment to and sustain our future increased population. This the problem of Florida, and California today. This is why they are making frantic efforts to attract industries. We must profit by their experience, and build our development on a firm foundation so that our growth and prosperity will be permanent and lasting."

All Over Alabama

The educational department of the Young Men's Christian Association at Birmingham will open its annual school of commerce on Wednesday, September 23. Advanced courses in accounting, business law and kindred subjects will be offered this year for the first time.

Now It's "Sunshine" with Wendell Hall

The "Red Hand" Music Maker" seems to be the same under all weather conditions and on his latest record entitled "Sunshine" he chants and choruses to the audience on a variety of subjects. On the reverse side his offering is "It Struck My Funny Bone," another tuneful number with clever nonsense rhymes worth memorizing.

Fox Trot for Every Style of Dancing

The standard glide fox trot, strutting ones like the various "walks," skippy polka-like dances like some forms of the collegiate, grotesque half-exhibition dances like the "Charleston," all can be danced to two new fox trots, "If I Ever Cry" and "Siberia," presented on a new record by Ted Weems and His Orchestra.

A new organization to the Victor lists is Busse's Band, a White-man orchestra, making its initial appearance with "Jazz Band." On the other side Coon-Sanders Original Nighthawk Orchestra gives "I'm Gonna Charleston Back to Charleston," which takes the dance from the kneeled "Charleston" fox trot. "Honey At Last" is another brilliant number by this orchestra, in which the band is so conspicuous and a vocal refrain is introduced. The companion number "Flickin'" by Meyer Davis' Le Paradis Band is light and elastic with some nice fireworks.

Sunday Drinking Causes Problem

(Associated Press)
DUBLIN, Aug. 21—The question of Sunday drinking in the Free State has become a subject for active discussion. It has been wholly abolished in Northern Ireland, but in the Free State the provision enabling a bona fide traveler who has gone three miles from his home to get drink, has nullified the general law and public houses in the neighborhood of Dublin and other large towns do a large trade with the Sunday bona fide traveler.

Along the Ulster border a similar trade has sprung up and large numbers of excursionists from Northern Ireland cross into the Free State every Sunday as bona fide travelers in search of a drink. This is particularly noted between South Down and the village of Omagh County Louth. Opinion in the Free State is divided. A large number of people favor complete Sunday closing and the abolition of the bona fide traveler privilege. An official witness before the Liquor Commission indicated, however, that Sunday opening for every body between limited hours would be a better course.

A meeting of the priests of the diocese of Clonfert, Most Rev. Dr. Dinan, Bishop of the diocese presiding, strongly condemned the suggestion of general opening of drink shops on Sundays. In view of the excessive facilities in Ireland at present for getting intoxicating drink the priest thought universal Sunday opening would be a national disaster.
